SET B- Answer Key

The bolded options are the answers

1 Consumers are often driven by deep-rooted psychological need states. Here are the six need states, each representing a Control – Desire for order, certainty, safety, predictability, and efficiency. Consumers here seek reassurance, reliability, Comfort – Desire for ease, relaxation, and indulgence in the familiar. Consumers seek warmth, nurturing, and protection.
Harmony – Desire for balance, togetherness, and belonging. Consumers seek connection, acceptance, and social unity.
Liberation – Desire for freedom, spontaneity, and adventure. Consumers seek playfulness, novelty, and breaking Potency – Desire for strength, achievement, dominance, and impact. Consumers seek recognition, performance, and Indulgence – Desire for pleasure, luxury, and sensory gratification. Consumers seek richness, pampering, and hedonistic

Meet Sameer, 38 years old.
Works as a schoolteacher in Jaipur, lives with his parents, wife, and two kids in a joint family.
Every evening, he gathers with neighbors for chai and casual chats.
He avoids conflict — if there's a disagreement, he steps in as the peacemaker.
Prefers products and brands that promote togetherness (e.g., board games, community festivals, family-friendly
His purchases are rarely about standing out; they are about fitting in with his social group.
He values inclusivity, consensus, and belonging more than individual expression.
Question: Which need state best captures Sameer's consumer mindset?

a Harmony
b Comfort
c Control
d Liberation

2 "For urban professionals working 10+ hour days, NeuroFuel delivers sustained mental clarity and jitter-free focus through a Target Segment
b Point of differentiation
c Reason to believe d Frame of Reference

3 The process of selecting one or more segments, from a selection of segments, for targeted marketing programs is an example of

a. TRUE

b. FALSE

4 “Slack is a collaboration hub that brings the right people, information and tools together to get work done. From Fortune

a Frame of Reference

b Target Segment

c Reason to believe

d None of the Above

5 Which of these are platform business

a Uber

b Air Bnb

c Amazon

d All of the above

e None of above

6 Consumers are often driven by deep-rooted psychological need states. Here are the six need states, each representing a Control – Desire for order, certainty, safety, predictability, and efficiency. Consumers here seek reassurance, reliability, Comfort – Desire for ease, relaxation, and indulgence in the familiar. Consumers seek warmth, nurturing, and protection.
Harmony – Desire for balance, togetherness, and belonging. Consumers seek connection, acceptance, and social unity.
Liberation – Desire for freedom, spontaneity, and adventure. Consumers seek playfulness, novelty, and breaking Potency – Desire for strength, achievement, dominance, and impact. Consumers seek recognition, performance, and Indulgence – Desire for pleasure, luxury, and sensory gratification. Consumers seek richness, pampering, and hedonistic Meet Radhika, 32 years old.
Works as a financial analyst in a multinational bank in Mumbai.
Her day is meticulously planned: from her early-morning gym routine, to meal prepping on Sundays, to her strict savings
She prefers well-known brands with a proven track record and reads multiple product reviews before making any
She avoids experimenting with new restaurants or untested skincare products; instead, she sticks to tried-and-tested

For her, unpredictability equals risk. She finds reassurance in warranties, guarantees, and certifications.
In her social circle, she is known as “the planner” — the one who books tickets in advance, carries backup chargers, and

Based on the Pen profile above, which need state does Radhika most strongly fit in a Control

b Comfort
c Potency
d Indulgence

7 When one segments the consumers, we need to identify demographic and pyschographic varianble. Which of these are

a. Income
b. Marital Status
c. City
d. Beliefs
e Attitudes
f Age
g Gender
h Behvaiors
I Core Values

8 If needs are basic human needs, which of the following statement(s) about wants are false

a. Wants are influenced by culture b Wants can be influenced by branding.
c. Wants are influenced by culture, personality, access to information and life stage
d. None of the above

9 For those seeking a premium single-origin coffee experience, BluePeak is a specialty coffee brand that delivers barista-

a Speciality Brand coffee
b Barista -crafted intensity
c Slow roasted beans sourced directly from high altitudes

10 Consumers are often driven by deep-rooted psychological need states. Here are the six need states, each representing a Control – Desire for order, certainty, safety, predictability, and efficiency. Consumers here seek reassurance, reliability, Comfort – Desire for ease, relaxation, and indulgence in the familiar. Consumers seek warmth, nurturing, and protection.
Harmony – Desire for balance, togetherness, and belonging. Consumers seek connection, acceptance, and social unity.
Liberation – Desire for freedom, spontaneity, and adventure. Consumers seek playfulness, novelty, and breaking Potency – Desire for strength, achievement, dominance, and impact. Consumers seek recognition, performance, and Indulgence – Desire for pleasure, luxury, and sensory gratification. Consumers seek richness, pampering, and hedonistic

Meet Arjun, 45 years old.
A mid-level HR manager in Pune, married with two teenage kids.
Loves routine: family dinners at the dining table, weekend TV marathons, and going to the same hill-station resort every He prefers home-cooked food to dining out, and swears by the same brand of atta his family has used for decades.
When shopping, he prioritizes familiarity over novelty — he calls himself “brand loyal.”
Friends often describe him as “dependable” and “easygoing.”
He dislikes disruptions; even small changes in his favorite soap or biscuit brand make him uncomfortable.

Based on the Pen profile above, which need state does Arjun most strongly fit inot

a Harmony
b Control
c Comfort
d Indulgence